GUIDE

GUIDE

Indice Commercial Canadien

2ème PARTIE

Commençant à la page 163, sur papier bleu, se trouvent les noms et les adresses des manufacturiers.

Commençant à la page 283, se trouve une liste alphabétique des articles fabriqués au Canada, donnant les noms de toutes les maisons qui les fabriquent.

Le mot principal en Anglais est ordinairement placé le premier, suivi d'une phrase le modifiant, i.e., Quincaillerie, de construction: Cuir, coupe de bottines et chaussures. Mais, quand l'inversion ne semble pas faisable le mot modifiant est placé le premier, et est ainsi arrangé dans la liste alphabétique, i.e., Mécanisme de piano—Piano hammers; Shoe packs—Chaussures en cuir tanné à l'huile. En cas de doute on peut essayer les deux méthodes. Quand deux noms ou plus sont communément employés pour le même article, nous avons essayé de donner des explications vis-à-vis. Quand on desire l'adresse de la rue, voir la II^{ème} Partie, commençant à la page 163. Les noms des fabricants qui font ou sont intéressés dans le commerce d'exportation sont indiqué par un asterisque*.

4ème PARTIE

Commençant à la page 651. Section Spécial indiquant les noms des exportateurs principaux des produits de la ferme, etc.

5ème PARTIE

Commençant à la page 659 sur papier bleu. Section de Traduction—(a) Français, page 659. (b) Espagnol (édition limitée), page 707. Les noms des articles donné dans l'Indice Français et Espagnol sont suivis par leur équivalent en anglais, et l'équivalent en anglais se trouve placé alphabétiquement dans la III^{ème} Partie.

From GIANT GENERATORS
to TINY LAMPS

It pays to ask for "GENERAL ELECTRIC" when purchasing any electrical product

FROM giant generators which develop our water power—to the lamps which illuminate our homes—everything electrical is made in Canada by Canadian General Electric.

Factories at Toronto and Peterborough manufacture not only apparatus to generate and distribute electricity but also equipment for the utilization of electricity—generators, switchgear, transformers, motors, wiring materials, lighting equipment, lamps, and a complete line of home appliances.

All these products constitute a family distinguished for efficiency and reliability.

When you buy General Electric products you take advantage of the technical investigations in General Electric's research laboratories. In these laboratories have originated most important developments in electrical equipment during the last thirty years.

Wherever you are located C.G.E. can serve you well because there is a Dominion-wide system of sales offices and warehouses set up for your convenience.

In the dual meaning of a phrase is expressed the double foundation upon which a great institution stands: quality, and scope of service.

THE workman who attaches the Westinghouse name plate to a motor knows that it stands for 50 years of development, constant research, a reputation for dependable performance that is the pride of every Westinghouse man and his responsibility to maintain.

"The name that means everything" might call to mind a laboratory worker, searching for a better way to control power leakage. A workman at a bench, perfecting a special tool for doing his job a little better. An inspector with his microscopic test equipment, as impartial and as impersonal as a baseball umpire.

"... everything in electricity," of course, suggests motors, meters, controls, circuit breakers, heating and lighting equipment, household products of every sort. Its meaning should also include the equipment needed to make and distribute electricity: water wheel generators, transformers, remote control systems—the list seems endless; some 30,000 products.

And so "the name that means everything in electricity" has a dual significance when applied to Westinghouse: a source of supply for practically everything electrical; a concern so thoroughly identified with electrical achievement that anyone may buy its products with utmost confidence.

BEFORE

Daylight robbery!

Save-Lite stopped it!

AFTER

. . . A CASE HISTORY FOR PLANT EXECUTIVES

Sightmeter readings taken in the above plant before repainting showed that illumination was very low despite adequate windows.

The "after" photograph shows the effect achieved with but one coat of Sherwin-Williams Save-Lite. Sightmeter readings taken under identical conditions showed a remarkable increase in light over the entire working plane, after repainting all walls and ceilings. Save-Lite has a very high light-reflecting value—its snowy whiteness reflects over 89% of the light that falls on it, with no glaring highlights. Moreover, Save-Lite assures the absolute minimum of after-yellowing. Its hard tile-like surface affords no foothold for dust and can be washed again and again without injury.

Save-Lite has improved light conditions and reduced lighting costs in plants and offices all over the country. Write for full information.

SIGHTMETER

Our expert paint engineers are equipped with the "Sightmeter," and will gladly test the efficiency of the lighting in any part of your plant: without obligation, of course.
